

LIQUOR PETITION OF PLEASANTON DEAD FOR 2 YEARS

Commission Rejects on Ground
Number of Signers Was Insufficient

The Pleasanton hotel's application for a liquor license is dead and cannot be resuscitated for a period of two years. The liquor license commission at its meeting yesterday afternoon adopted the report of inspector Fennell, which recommended that the application be not considered, on the ground that the petition did not contain the signatures of the number of property-holders required by law.

Attorney R. W. Breckons appeared before the commission with a request that Manager E. G. Dulsberg be given 30 days' more time to obtain the necessary number of signatures, but it was denied, the commission basing its action on the opinion of the attorney-general that under the law the majority number of signers must be the majority at the time the petition was filed. The application was filed several months ago, consequently the signatures acquired after that date could not apply in strict conformity with the statute.

Breckons argued that Dulsberg had conscientiously obtained what he believed was a majority of the property-holders to sign, and that if his majority was reduced because some of those who signed had died or moved away, the board in fairness should give him a chance to replace those old names with new ones.

The application of the Home Industry Clear Company for a wholesale liquor license, to conduct an office in the Waverley block at which only orders for delivery would be taken, was referred to inspector Fennell for further investigation. The application was filed by William J. Jacobsen, president of the company, though it is understood S. Kubey and J. Kubey are to have active charge of the office's business.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

QUARTER MILLION TO BE SPENT ON KAUAI RAILWAY

Work on Road and Kapaa Cannery to Be Begun in Few Weeks

Nearly $250,000 will be spent by the Lihue Plantation Company in constructing the proposed railway line on Kauai, which has been approved recently by the governor, for the assistance of the homesteaders in the Kapaa district of the Garden Island.

The line's exact route has not been determined yet, though it will be mostly on public land owned by the territory and tracts held by the homesteaders. For the right-of-way over the former licenses will be given the company by the territory and the form of these licenses is in preparation now by the attorney-general. Preliminary survey of one of the proposed routes will be undertaken next week by engineers under instructions from Supt. C. R. Forbes of the public works department.

Two routes are considered. One, considerably mauka, will require a slight but steady grade haul, nearly all the way from the Lihue mill to Nawiliwili harbor. But it would afford a comparatively easy crossing over the Waialua river.

The second route would be on a lower level, obviating the grade and would be about five miles shorter, but at the Waialua river would require an enormous bridge, with a span perhaps 1000 feet in length and 250 feet in height. This feature alone would cost $60,000 to $70,000 to construct, it is estimated. Whether the extra cost of the haul over the additional mileage and heavy grade would eventually equal the cost of the huge bridge on the lower route is a mathematical problem in freight transportation that the company must figure out.

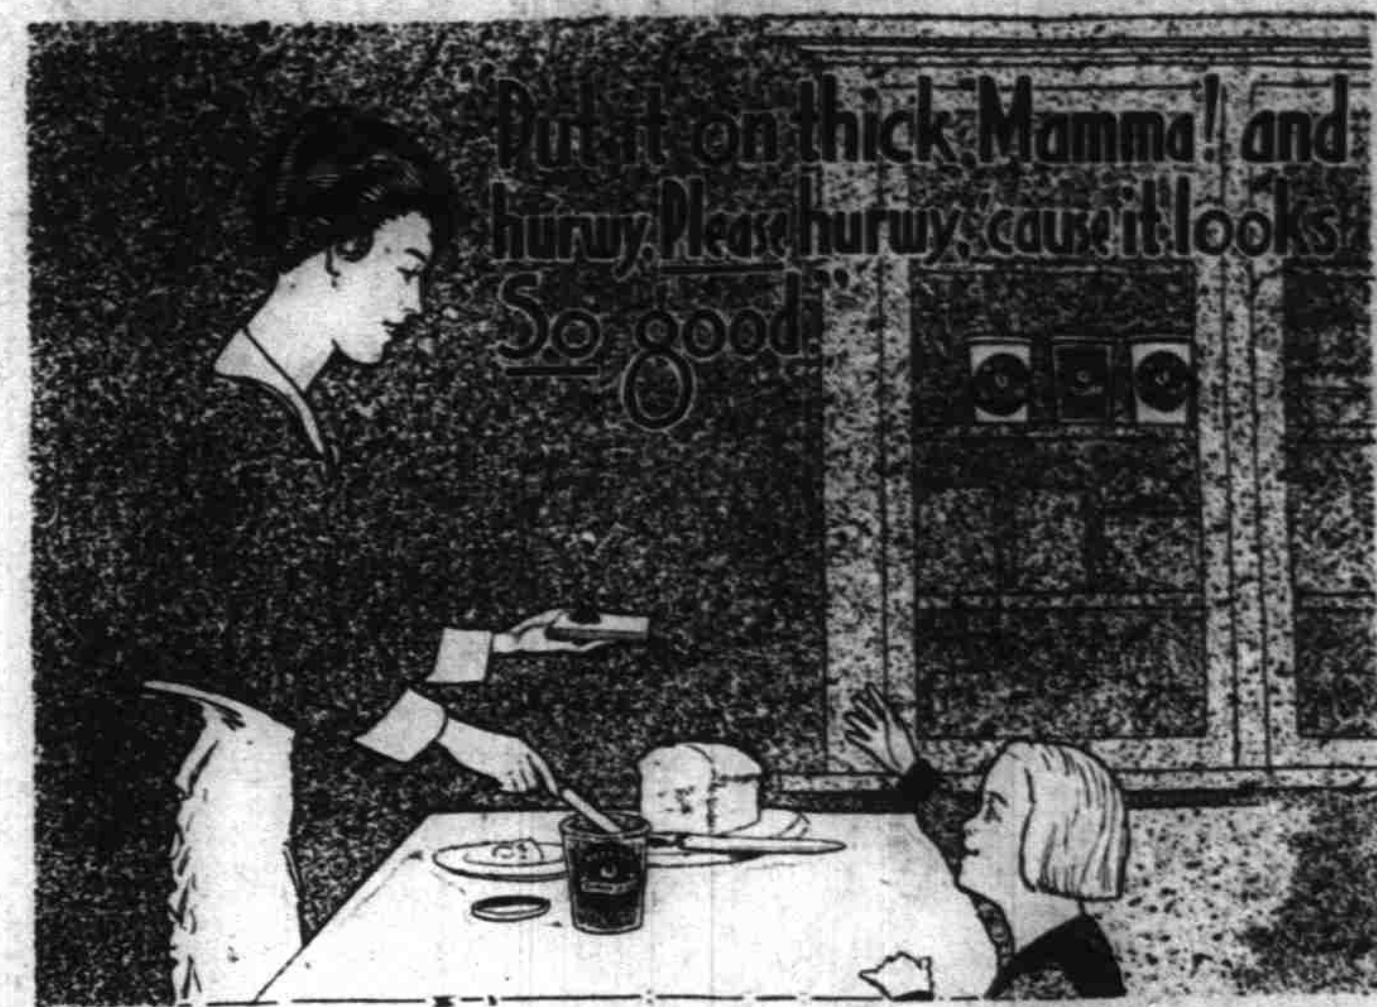

Attorney F. E. Thompson, the company's legal representative, left last night for Kauai, where he expects to "close" agreements between the homesteaders and the firm today and tomorrow. These agreements have to do with the planting of pineapples and cane and the purchase of transportation to market of the crops. The company probably also will make arrangements for temporary loans to assist the landholders until their produce is ready for sale.

Actual constructive operations on the railway line and on the new cannery at Kapaa are promised within the next few days.
